There were no St. Louis papers received from Wednesday night until Friday noon, and everybody went hungry for news.

Spreading the rails threw No. 51 off the track a short distance south of Silica station on Thursday morning last, and caused quite a serious wreck. The train was turning a curve, the rails spread and the engine tipped bounding onto the ties running for about fifty yards, and then down an embankment turning completely over, the engine landed on its back; the postal, express and baggage car quickly followed; the coaches left the rails but owing to the fact that they were stopped in the cut did not topple over. Very luckily no one was injured.

There was found on the streets a couple of days since a large envelope filled with papers and bearing this inscription: "Valuable papers entrusted into the care of Mr. W. S. Bissell, the new postmaster general to be handed to the person whose name is written below." We have not examined the interior, so are unable to say whether the envelope holds the application of some aspiring Democrat, or the resignation of an offending Republican. As Democrats are all masters in orthography and Republicans never resign, both of these surmises may be wrong. In any event the party to whom the document belongs may secure the same by calling at this office and proving the property his or hers, as the case may be.

Coming up street last Sunday, we saw, fronting the sidewalk leading north and south at Bishop's store, a half-dozen shade-trees of probably three years' growth, which, if unmoored, in a year or two more would have afforded grateful shade during the summer heats. But, alas! show us a shade tree in this town which had not to contend with half-starved, half-vagrant horses and cows turned out by their owners to troop the streets and forage their living. The trees above alluded to will never show spreading leaf from opening bud. No; they have been denuded of their bark from the ground up to as high as the long-necked, half-starved quadrupeds could reach to work destruction. It is a shame and a scandal to civilization that such things should be, and we gently suggest to the officers of this town—Mayor, Councilmen, Marshal, and all—that the purpose of our incorporation is getting to be as mysterious and far-away to the ordinary citizen, as are sometimes the ways of a divine and not-to-be-comprehended Providence. If the town, in its official capacity, can't rid the streets of the animals that infest and befoul them, what can it do, outside of levying taxes?

Last Wednesday evening shortly after dark, as Miss Jennie Albert, daughter of Mr. Jno. Albert, was standing in front of Arnold's butcher shop on Main street, waiting for her mother, who had gone inside to make a purchase, Andy Cooley, a negro approached her and said something about some one wanting to see her in the alley by Schultz's saloon; the young lady paid no attention to him and he started to place his hand on her. She quickly shoved him off, however, and her mother appearing from the shop the two started up the street. The negro then turned back muttering to himself and saying that he would be heard from later. The young lady and her mother proceeded up to Mr. Albert's store, and shortly after reaching there, the negro came to the door, shoved his head in and made some remark about wanting something in there. Mr. Albert having been informed of what had happened down town rushed to the door and grabbed Cooley, but he broke away and disappeared. Next morning early, the negro called at Mr. Albert's residence and stated that he was sorry for his behavior of the night before, that he was drunk at the time and really did not know what he was doing. Mr. Albert gave him no satisfaction but came down town and having already seen Prosecuting Attorney Jordan the night before in regard to the matter, secured a warrant for Cooley's arrest; when the officers went to look for the negro, however, he had taken flight and could not be found. Up to the present there are no clues as to his whereabouts, but it is yet hoped that he will be secured and made to answer for his offense. The negro is a worthless fellow, but not particularly vicious unless drinking; he is very fond of his cups, however, and has a predisposition for the "wine when it is red." There is naturally considerable feeling over the case, and the general opinion is that the negro should be severely and promptly punished. Descriptions of the negro were sent to several towns up and down the road, and on Saturday a telegram was received from the Marshal at De Soto, stating that he had the offender under arrest. Sheriff Fisher and Marshal Baldwin went to De Soto that afternoon, but on investigation, discovered that the negro there under arrest was not Cooley.

Annapolis News.
Ed. Register—This place was full of people Thursday, who Rockwell heard Underwood's trial; but all were disappointed. After hearing the charge read to him, he changed his mind about as quick as it were possible to do so, and waived the preliminary trial. Sheriff Fisher brought the prisoner down on train No. 51, and a large crowd were awaiting him. All were orderly and quiet, and there was no talk of lynching. The only disturbance during the day was a fight between Jas. McDaniels and Louis Loyd, which grew out of some trouble between their families. Several cars of cattle were shipped from here to-day.

The sick folk around Annapolis are all recovering.
W. A. Simpson returned from Arkansas Friday, where he was engaged in the piling business for Rockwell & Benson. He has left the services of the Warny Bros. an given up the post-office.
March 21st, 1893.

The work train went south Wednesday to load ties, but was called back to assist at the wreck at Annapolis, Engine No. 610 straddled the south switch and buried the wheels on one side in the mud between the tracks, blocking both main and passing tracks Thursday night at ten o'clock. A track had to be laid around the wreck for trains to pass. The section men of this place, with the assistance of Sabula and Des Arc gangs, did this work in a little over five hours and had trains running. The engine was picked up the next day.

Work train will go south again tomorrow.

There was a wreck at Vulcan Tuesday, but only one got off track; the wreck was caused by a broken truck. Murphy was down there Wednesday to help transfer the car load of lumber—and while there visited the scene of the murder. He saw where the murderer stood to shoot, where the murdered man lay and where the ball struck a tie and then where it struck a rock leaving marks of lead on the rock. Dr. May is still improving but had a chill or two lately.

David Pariss is out again; glad to see you out, Dave.
F. P. Hiburn has tendered his resignation as Foreman of Annapolis Section. He has not decided what course he will pursue after he is relieved from duty here.

Cholera in Pennsylvania.

Swickley, Penn.: We had an epidemic of cholera, as our physicians called it, in this place lately and I made a great hit with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy. I sold four dozen bottles of it in one week and have since sold nearly a gross. This Remedy did the work and was a big advertisement for me. Several persons who had been troubled with diarrhoea for two or three weeks were cured by a few doses of this medicine.

Graniteville News.

Ed. Register—Dr. Chas. Blanks, of St. Mary's Institute, St. Louis, has now formed a co-partnership with our resident doctor R. W. Gay, and will hereafter be under the style, firm and name of Drs. Gay & Blanks, who will attend promptly to all day and night calls. As the former needs no introduction to people of this vicinity, and the latter comes highly recommended, we wish for the new firm every success in this their new field of profession. Notwithstanding, we trust for general good health, also.

It is now understood, that Mr. Henry Rutschling has forwarded his petition to Washington, D. C., praying to be appointed postmaster of Graniteville. The story is ripe, that the mercantile firm of Maschmeyer & Trauernicht will, by mutual consent, be dissolved the coming month, Mr. Maschmeyer retiring.

Mrs. Nugent Kidd and children, of Ridge Prairie, Ills., are here on a visit to relatives and friends for a few days.

Mr. Alen Graham and family, and Mr. J. P. Fitzpatrick and family, attended the funeral of the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Davis, of Pilot Knob, on Sunday last.

Residing Elder O. M. Martin, of St. Louis, preached to the M. E. church people on Sunday evening at 7 P. M. After which the first quarterly meeting of the ensuing year was held. A large crowd was in attendance to listen to the eminent divine. The hour of services at the church hereafter, will be 7:30 instead of 7:15 P. M., the change having been made on Sunday evening last.

Mr. David Archie, Jr., left yesterday for St. Louis, where he has secured a job at carving on the Davis building in West Moreland Park.

Business is yet at a standstill with the Sycamore Granite Company, as all matters pertaining to the big Omaha job is not definitely settled, but it is said that arrangements will be perfected in a few days—it is to be hoped so at any rate.

Messrs. Frank Webb and Sam'l Matson made a flying trip to Sycamore, Mo., on last Monday in quest of work, but not being successful, they went to Little Rock on the same mission, and met with the same fate at that place, so they concluded to return home and wait until the wind changes, for "tis an ill wind that blows nobody good" in some time or other.

While Dr. Gay was returning home from Ironton Monday morning, he stopped to water his horse at one of the little creeks just this side of Pilot Knob, when the horse became frightened and broke loose from him and ran away, coming all the way to Graniteville with harness and cart intact, strange as it may seem, no damage was done to either one. The Doctor, however, was considerably vexed over the matter of having to foot it home, but when he found everything O. K., his vexed feelings become somewhat subsided.

Mrs. Alex Graham returned from the city Saturday.
Mrs. John Lindsay spent a couple of days in the country last week.
Rev. and Mrs. Rose have returned home—she, from attending St. Louis conference, and she from St. Louis whither she went several weeks ago in quest of health, and we are informed much improved.

We are told that Mr. John Brown and his amiable wife, of Pilot Knob, will become residents of our vicinity in the near future.

Mr. Martin, the newly employed general manager of the Sycamore Granite Company, will move his family from Denver, Colorado, to this place in a short time.

With continued good weather, house and yard cleaning will be the rush of the day, for at least a while to come.

The sudden demise of Col. Elliott F. Shepard, editor of the New York Mail and Express, removes from this country another one of the g. o. p.'s plutocratic bosses, whose tactics were equal to those of Steve Elkins in every character of rascality, and as a Bloody Shirt shaker, is a riddance that this or any other country might well feel proud of.
